Coroner Charles Piper Byers and State Motor Police who investigated the circumstances surrounding Mr. Aldredge's death, are of the opinion that Mr. Aldredge suffered a stroke or heart attack, just after he had rounded the curve in the roadway leading to the straightway stretch going towards New Wilmington, this side of the home of Dr. D. C. Lindley. The car left the highway on the right hand side and traveled in a straight line for about 200 feet to the bank of a small stream which crosses the highway, where it catapulted the stream bed and buried its nose in the bank on the opposite side.

Instantly Killed

Discovery of the accident was made by Perry J. Klump, of New Wilmington, whose car had been passed by Mr. Aldredge near the Elder farm, at the junction of the President Orders Argentine Corned Beef Purchases

Defends Foreign Purchase Of Corned Beef For U. S. Navy

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 12.—President Roosevelt revealed today that he had personally directed Secretary of the Navy Swanson to purchase 48,000 pounds of Argentine corned beef for the American navy instead of purchasing American corned beef.

The president defended his move on the ground that Argentine canned beef is far superior in quality to the domestic product and is much cheaper. The chief executive, at his press conference, vigorously opposed the O'Mahoney amendment to the naval appropriation bill which would prohibit purchase of foreign canned beef.

The president said that the navy is able to purchase Argentine beef at a net cost of nine cents per pound in contrast to a price of 23 cents a pound for domestic canned corned beef. Even with the six-cent a pound duty the Argentine beef bid was 15 cents a pound delivered in this country, the president said.

"Roosevelt Hasn't Chance For Third Term Nomination"

So Declares Mrs. H. B. Powell Head Of Pennsylvania Republican Women

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, May 12.—Roosevelt "hasn't a chance" of being nominated for a third term, Mrs. Humbert B. Powell, president of the Pennsylvania Council of Republican Women, told the annual meeting of the southwest district here today.

"People are sick and tired of the constant discouragement of business by the present administration," she said. "Roosevelt will not be put up as a candidate by his own party, in my opinion. If he should he would be overwhelmingly defeated."

This year's elections largely will determine how Pennsylvania will go in 1940, she asserted.

More than 500 delegates from 12 counties gathered here today for the annual spring session of the southwest district of the Pennsylvania Council of Republican Women.

Outstanding women expected to participate included Mrs. Worthington Scranton, national committeewoman; Mrs. Clifton A. Verner, president of the Allegheny county council, and Mrs. Hanna M. Durham, a member of the GOP national policy committee.

See Huge Throng Here For Greater New Castle Sales Day On Saturday

Old Man Sunshine seems to be interested in the Greater New Castle Days sale which is in its second day today. Bright, clear weather attracted a lot of shoppers into the downtown district on Thursday and again today the stores are busy.

The sale closes on Saturday and indications are that it will be a really big day. Shoppers who came down Thursday found genuine bargains in foodstuffs, clothing and other merchandise and their reports can not help but be favorable.

The sale is sponsored by the Retail Merchants association with some 45 merchants taking part. Spring goods, and early summer goods felt the edge of the bargain blade and thrifty shoppers are loading up with things they have needed and a few they will need later on.

Tomorrow closes the carnival of bargains. When the doors close Saturday night the sale is over and the usual prices will prevail. The smart shopper is going to be down town Saturday ready to take advantage of the offerings of the merchants.

'Mercy Slayer' Freed By Jury

Louis Greenfield, 47, Absolved By Jury In Killing Of His Imbecile Son

PLAN TO ADOPT SMALL CHILD

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, May 12.—Absolved by a jury which heard from his lips the tearful recital of how he climaxed years of mental indecision by finally chloroforming his 17-year-old son who was a hopeless imbecile, Louis Greenfield, 47, a milliner, began planning a new life today.

Recovering in seclusion from the ordeal of the trial and the tearful hysteria with which they received the verdict of the jury in the "mercy killing" case, Greenfield and his loyal wife, Anna, announced they planned to adopt a small child.

Adopt Child

The adopted child, they hope, said Greenfield, will fill the void left in their lives by the death of their deformed son, Jerome. Both the father who took Jerome's life and the mother expressed parental love for the misshapen youth who spoke in an infantile babble and amused himself with baby toys at the age of 17.

The jury of seven men and five women, all married and all parents but one, required four hours to reach their verdict in a case that has aroused a storm of controversial public opinion. Greenfield wept unrestrainedly when Albert Rosenthal, the jury foreman, announced the verdict. Guided by his attorney, Samuel Leibowitz, he slumped into a chair and sat dazed for several minutes. His wife, who had been ordered into the corridor by Judge Lester W. Patterson to prevent a courtroom outburst, likewise wept without control.

"Marathon Marrying" Blonde Is Jailed On Morals Charge

Suspicion Of Morals Offense Charged Against Much Married California Woman

(International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD, May 12—Nina Colton Graves, 28-year old marathon-marrying blonde who said "I do" for the ninth time to Billy Graves, musician, only last Saturday was booked at the Hollywood police station early today on suspicion of a morals offense.

Detective O. H. Tucker, who arrested her, charged that she was interested in a string of disorderly houses.

Mrs. Graves, who has been divorced seven times, figured in the news early this week after she married Billy Graves, 26, in an elopement to Yuma, Ariz., and again when a quarrel almost wrecked the marriage when it was but a few hours old.

Graves was also taken to the police station and booked on suspicion of being a vagrant.

Detective Tucker asserted that the quarrel which almost caused a separation of Mrs. Graves and her husband last Sunday followed Graves' discovery of the nature of his wife's alleged activities.

Committee Named To Phrase New "Union Shop" Agreement In Parley

SOUTHERN OPERATORS MAY NOT RATIFY

Settlement Of Soft-Coal Labor Disagreement By Night-Fall Possible

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

NEW YORK, May 12.—Settlement by night-fall of the Appalachian soft-coal labor disagreement was strongly indicated today with appointment of a committee to phrase a new "union shop" agreement which, while acceptable with some reluctance by northern operators, may fail of ratification by operators of Collieries south of the Ohio-Pennsylvania boundaries.

Announcement of the drafting committee's appointment—expected to complete its work within an hour and a half—was made by Chairman W. L. Robison of the joint bargaining committee only a short time after an inclusive caucus of southern operators bitterly resentful of Lewis' union-shop victory.

Draw New Contract

The drafting committee immediately convened to draw up the new contract and lay it before the joint committee which, if it approves, will thereupon send the document to the full general Appalachian conference for final action.

"The joint subcommittee," Robison said in a formal statement, "has completed its consideration of the subject matter to go into a new Appalachian contract and has appointed a ddafting committee to edit such a new agreement.

"The drafting committee will promptly complete its work and report to the joint subcommittee. A general Appalachian conference is called to meet at 3:30 p. m. today

Schooners Crash; Eleven Missing

Twenty Seven Other Fishermen In Open Sea In Dories 50 Hours Are Safe

(International News Service)

BOSTON, May 12.—Twenty seve Boston and Gloucester fishermen lost in the fog bound reaches of the North Atlantic following the crash of two schooners were brought into Yarmouth, N. S., today, according to word reaching coastguard headquarters.

The men who had been 50 hours in the open sea in dories joined nine survivors brought to Yarmouth last night. This reduced to eleven the number missing and raised hopes that they would be found.

First news of the tragedy came when the motorship Amacita brought nine exhausted survivors to Yarmouth, N. S. The survivors, who had rowed 80 miles in the two dories in which they escaped, reported one fisherman, Frank Nickerson, of Argyle, N. S., was known to be dead. They said they saw his body being lowered into one of the missing dories.

Gen. Johnson Censures Roosevelt

Madam Perkins Also Criticized

Johnson Says President "Sticks Our Neck Out For European War Lords"

LEWIS SHOULD HAVE "EARS PINNED DOWN

(International News Service)

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., May 12.—President Roosevelt today came under the heavy censure of Gen. Hugh Johnson for "sticking our necks out to European war lords."

Speaking before the state chamber of commerce here last night, General Johnson declared:

"We have stopped producing white rabbits for domestic consumption but produce them now for foreign dictators. National leadership is forsaken for international leadership. The country faces two accomplishments. War mowing us down and the new deal washing us out."

Business, he said, could get along better and faster if it would "forget the administration and Washington." He added:

"Business and government are like bulldog teamed with wolverine. I have a hunch war won't come, but I won't bet five cents it won't.

New Deal Party Split

"The new deal party is split seven ways from the poles and it has as much fellowship as a sock full of holes, while the nation suffers from juggling jitters. In a new world war under this 17th new deal, we wouldnt defend democracy but destroy it. Ninety per cent of the Americans are bitterly opposed to war and any man who favors it seals his political doom."

In relation to John L. Lewis and the present coal situation, the general said Lewis should "have his ears smothered down," but that the real trouble "comes from Madam Perkins, who messed things up in the beginning."

Asked if President Roosevelt will seek a third term, Johnson declared: "He will if he has a 50-50 chance to get away with it."

at which time the joint subcommittee's report will be made to it for such action as it may care to take thereon."

Conference Opens

Lewis led his lieutenants into conference with the operators' subcommittee and Dr. John R. Steelman, ace federal conciliator, shortly after ten o'clock this morning.

Southern operators promptly convened their own meeting while the "official" session was in progress, with approximately 75 mine owners present, many of whom minced no words in denouncing the union shop victory achieved by Lewis.

The meeting, however, was inconclusive so far as determining what position the southern operators will take when actual provisions of the new contract are announced, nor were any instructions drafted for the operators' subcommittee then meeting with Lewis.

Southern Operators Resentful

It was learned, however, that many of the operators are so resentful of the planned contract that they may refuse to go along if ratification of the document is sought on a conference-wide basis. This would pose for Lewis the problem of negotiating individual contracts with those operators in the southern districts willing to sign up, and a bigger problem should other southern mine owners refuse to operate on a union-shop basis.

Neither Lewis nor members of the operators' subcommittee would comment as this morning's joint session got under way, but it was believed that it was only a matter of hours before official announcement of a new contract would be made.

Belief that a new two-year contract will soon be signed was strengthened by the summoning of the full union policy committee of union representatives for 5 p. m. to ratify the work of the subcommittee and a parallel convocation of the full Appalachian committee or the operator representatives.

key squarely into the "stop the axis" front and thereby open the Dardenelles to both British and French warships in the event of a conflict came to light when Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain suddenly postponed his announcement regarding Anglo-Turkish negotiations.

Chamberlain had been scheduled to make his announcement this morning. Instead he informed the House of Commons that he would postpone his statement until 4 p. m. (11 a. m. EDT).

The delay was understood to be the result of sudden collapse of Franco-Turkish negotiations regarding Sanjak of Alexandretta, an area of French-mandated Syria, which is bordered by Turkey on the north and by the Mediterranean on the west.

(Background note: The Sanjak has been a source of much friction between the French and Turkish governments. Under terms of a Franco-Turkish agreement reached in January, 1937, the Sanjak was to be granted complete internal autonomy, it was to be demilitarized and administered by a League of Nations high commissioner, with Turkish named as one of the official languages. Turkey recently threatened drastic action if France should send troops into the Sanjak.)

TAU DELTA BANQUET AT EPWORTH M. E. SUCCESS

"The Little Old Woman Who Lives in a Shoe" was the banquet theme cleverly worked out by the Tau Delta class members of the Epworth M. E. church Thursday evening, when they entertained in their colorfully decorated dining room at the annual mothers and daughters event.

The idea was due the originality and talents of Mrs. Clare Lightner, who designed the scenes in miniatures which were used for table centerpieces. Midget play yards and little children, all different, cut out and painted, marked places for 81.

A delicious full course dinner was served at 6:30 o'clock by the Marshall avenue unit, and a business period ensued. Mrs. Geraldine Gilmore, president, was in charge. Reports were given by Secretary Mrs. Edna Mae Riley and treasurer, Mrs. Margaret Kamerer. Miss June Young is vice president of the class and Mrs. C. H. Andrews teacher.

Women's Auxiliary To Medical Society Closes With Luncheon

One of the loveliest social functions undertaken by the Women's Auxiliary to the Lawrence County Medical Society, was their closing event of the season held Thursday afternoon, May 11, in the form of a 1 o'clock luncheon at the New Castle Field club.

The occasion was well attended, and after the serving of a tempting menu at attractively arranged tables, attention was given to the program of music arranged especially for the afternoon.

Under the direction of Mrs. William J. Caldwell, the Federation Chorus delighted the assemblage with a group of selections, including "Going Home" by Dvorak; "Lovely Spring" by Conenen; "Morning Song" by Massenet and "In The Garden" by Shuman.

The business period was the following feature, when reports were contributed by the various chairmen and committee heads, showed a most gratifying year.

The election of new officers ensued, with the retiring president, Mrs. E. F. Henderson, presiding. The new president is Mrs. Eliah Kaplan, and she will have working with her, Mrs. Luman Popp, president-elect; Mrs. C. J. Flannery, vice-president; Mrs. C. F. McDowell, recording secretary; Mrs. S. W. Perry, Jr., corresponding secretary; Mrs. William Hinkson, treasurer.

At this time, Mrs. E. F. Henderson expressed sincere appreciation for the splendid co-operation given her by the outgoing officers and members, during the past year. She then introduced Mrs. Eliah Kaplan, who asked for the continued support of the Auxiliary, in the hope that the high standards set by their preceding president, can be retained.

Another group of songs were heard by the chorus afterwards, selections being, "Espanna" by Waldteusee; "All Through The Night", a Welsh air by Owen. "Spring Song", was the concluding number.

This rounded out an exceedingly successful club year for the Auxiliary members, under the guidance of Mrs. Henderson. Special recognition was given to Mrs. F. F. Urey, program chairman, and her committee, Mrs. Elah Kaplan and Mrs. W. L. Campbell, for the interesting and highly educational programs arranged throughout the year.

THE ULTIMATE IN JAPANESE BARBARITY

JAPAN'S reported determination to prevent outside relief organizations from supplying food and medicines to refugees in Chinese cities under attack is in line with the ruthless barbarism of Tokio's bombing of defenseless citizens.

The American Red Cross and other relief groups have worked courageously and ceaselessly to ease the sufferings of the Chinese in the brutal war waged by Japan. But now the Japanese navy has made known that it will not permit stores of rice and medical supplies—provided in large part with funds given by Americans—to be taken to cities that are targets for Tokio's guns.

While Japanese naval spokesmen boast of the exceptional field day "enjoyed" by aviators last Saturday, when six widely separated Chinese cities were mercilessly bombed, one of them twice, civilized nations can only stand aghast at the inhuman cruelty of this Far East horror. So long as the universal law of compensation remains in operation it is inconceivable that victories won by such insensate ferocity can be of lasting benefit to Japan.

The stoppage of vital relief services is about the ultimate cruelty which Tokio can inflict on the oppressed Chinese people.

BARRIERS TO NATIONAL PROGRESS

America grew to its present position as the nation with the highest standard of living the world has ever known because it consisted of 48 separate states which yet at the same time succeeded in working together for the good of the whole country. Like the Three Musketeers, the United States was always "all for one, one for all."

Today a perilous shadow seems to be cast upon this successful formula. It is the shadow of state trade barriers—"tariffs" discriminating against the products of outside states so that home products may reap a temporary benefit.

These discriminatory taxes take many forms, but are all deadly in effect. Their inevitable result is to produce retaliatory measures in the other states; and, if this trend continues, we may some day see 48 states with high trade barriers raised against one another, hindering the free flow of commerce that has been a main reason for our national progress.

There's something distinctly un-American about that picture!

THE YOUTH-AGE STRUGGLE

Competition between youth and age for available jobs is one of the most regrettable phases of the unemployment situation

The airplane construction program, for instance, led the War Department to consider a plan to train 16,000 young men as mechanics and technicians for the air service.

But no sooner was the plan announced than the Machinists' Union stepped forward with the names of 13,000 qualified, unemployed mechanics who this union thinks ought to have first chance at any such jobs

The automobile industry has presented a similar situation Very few young men have gotten jobs in that industry in recent years Seniority rules of the auto unions give precedence for jobs to men with already-established labor records in the industry.

We don't know any answer to this conflict at the moment. The young and ambitious man without training but with a life before him, and the older, experienced worker with family responsibilities—both have powerful claims.

The only final answer is industrial expansion such as will provide room for both.

CARE OF ALIENS ONE OF RELIEF PROBLEMS

Care of aliens forms one of the major problems of the relief issue being considered by the Federal and state governments.

Thousands of persons who have not become citizens of the United States are living off the taxpayers of the land.

Should they be permitted to do so?

Americans abroad in needy circumstances would have to look to the representatives of their country or fellow Americans for assistance.

Should America continue to play Santa Claus for those who have not shown enough interest to become citizens?

In Allegheny county, it has been disclosed that 11,000 aliens are receiving assistance. They receive $152,000 per month or $1,824,000 a year.

The Grange has urged that all aliens be dropped from relief roles.

Some organizations favor naturalization compaigns. Others are opposed to urging persons to become citizens, who have lived here for a long period without showing interest in their adopted land.

Meanwhile, aliens become one of the growing problems.

Many people feel they should look to their home lands for assistance, in view of the fact they have not been patriotic or interested enough to become citizens.

One of our friends who has a lazy wife says that he always buys a new suit with two pairs of pants because his spouse is too tired to go through all the pockets.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

GARDENING FOR CHILDREN

EITHER the vegetable or flower garden affords opportunity for the child over four or five to do useful work and learn habits and attitudes of responsibility.

The public school has done a great deal in training the child in gardening. The educational value is best when the child is induced to continue the care of his section of the school garden throughout the summer and to market the products. The 4-H Clubs also have encouraged gardening among farm children, even supervising them during the summer. In either event the parents usually need to do some directing, to the extent, at least, of seeing that the child keeps at the job and sees it through.

Both the school and the 4-H Club encourage children to grow interested in beautifying the grounds about their home buildings. The rural school has vast opportunities, through the children, to effect more beauty about the farm home, and more character education as a by-product. Here is a direction in which the school might make itself felt more in the home.

Advice For Teachers

In any school, indeed, city or rural, teachers might induce children to take more interest in the home gardens and to want to participate at home in the care of these gardens.

Obviously we parents can do most. Beginning with the child of five or six, let us give him a small plot for which he will be entirely responsible. Let us offer him no more supervision than necessary. But once he has chosen to take the responsibility, we shall find ways to keep him caring faithfully for his plot. As with piano lessons, some coercion may at times be necessary. It will be harmful not only to his garden but to his character to allow him to neglect this job. He must see it through. We must make sure he does. Then let us join with him in celebrating his successes.

Lawn Mowing

In case the lawn is not large, it may afford the father the exercise he needs to mow this lawn himself But if he otherwise has adequate means of wholesome exercise, the child over eight or ten, boy or girl, might properly be held responsible for mowing it as regular periods; in which event, let there be no doubts nor arguments. Then the lawn will look well, the family atmosphere will escape some needless tensions, and the child's character will be cultivated.

Blessed is the growing child who learns by constant practice to cultivate good attitudes and habits of responsibility at home, who has a few definite jobs he never can escape.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

THE "WHITE PLUME"

The world is distraught. The depression isn't beaten. Nations pour their treasure into armaments—toward bankruptcy. The nerves of millions are taut, their minds apprehensive. Only the ignorant may know the bliss of the wholly carefree.

In Memphis, Tennessee, a sixteen-year-old mountain girl was interviewed the other day. She had never before seen electric light, movie, elevator, train, radio or telephone. She didn't know that Franklin Roosevelt is President; had never heard of Mussolini or Hitler. She couldn't have the worries of more informed folk. George Washington University scientists report that the neurotic mind may be relieved of excessive apprehension by a brain operation whereby the area which controls emotion is cut off from the area governing the ability to project one's self into the future by exercise of imagination. Fear is thus alleviated.

Is knowledge, then, a curse? Mental keenness an affliction? Humanity has, again and again, given a destiny-determining "No" to those rhetorical questions. Ignorance may, in instances, serve as an anti-dote to happiness—but mankind chooses to march on by facing the facts of tragedy and triumphing over them. There is a quenchless knighthood in the world; its crest the white plume of courage. Its creed was voiced two hundred years ago by Cyrano De Bergerac, the great French adventurer, when he declared defiantly in the face of persecution: "They may kill me. But there is one thing they cannot take from me—and that is my white plume!"

Just Folks

MUCH FOR LITTLE

If with little you can be
Glad the apple bloom to see;
Glad the wide world to explore
Riches could not give you more.

If with ordinary means
You delight in lovely scenes,
You will find your whole life through
Happiness abides in you.

If with much you still delight
In a clear and starry night
And a song bird singing near
You'll not long be saddened here.

Much or little, if you still
Look on childhood with a thrill,
And old friends rejoice to see
You will often happy be.

No; the Nazis aren't attacking us. But when a well-armed bandit begins to steal whatever he wants, it is everybody's business to discourage him.

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 7:07. Sun rises tomorrow 4:45.

We are a great people in this country. One horse race that took about two minutes got millions of people on edge and filled pages in the newspapers.

PRACTICALLY GRACELESS

Jennie didn't like spinach, but she ate it anyhow. Then when she asked to leave the table, mother told her she'd have to say her grace first.

"Got nothin' to be thankful for," grumbled Jennie.

"Then stay where you are until you have!"

Silence. Then a small voice—"Thank the Lord I wasn't sick from that spinach. Now kin I leave?"—Sent in.

They are featuring broadrib suits this spring. Exclusively, we suppose, for radio comedians.

Old-timers who made their own music had one advantage. It didn't turn into a popping uproar when the neighbors started some household machine.

So far we have not heard any chirping from the great ex-kaiser from his exclusive retreat in Dorn. He was going to upset the world a few years ago.

HUMOROUS MISTAKES

The following is said to be actual remarks taken from letters sent to the government alphabetical relief agency.

They are not printed to treat lightly the humorous mistakes which "We, the people" make unintentionally. Let's look 'em over:

"I cannot get sick pay, I have six children. Can you tell me why it is?"

"Mrs. Jones has had no clothing for a year, and has been regularly visited by the clergy."

"I am glad to say that my husband, who was reported missing, is now deceased."

"This is my eighth child. What are you going to do about it?"

"I am forwarding my marriage license and my two children, one of which is a mistake, you can see."

"I am writing to say that my baby was born two years old. When do I get my money?"

"Unless I get my husband's money soon, I will be forced to lead an immortal life."

"I am sending my marriage certificate and six children. I have seven, one died, which was baptized on a half sheet of paper by Rev. Thomas."

It does seem a pity that our grandchildren will have to pay for the good times we're not having.

Signs on New York streets read: "Clean your sidewalks and curb your dog."

TODAY'S STORYETTE

"Have you and your boss ever had any differences in opinion?" asked the chief clerk of a new applicant.

"Yes," came the reply, "but he doesn't know it."

Students at New York University have voted approval of the Ten Commandments. It is to be hoped that during the coming year they will find time to ratify the constitution and the bill of rights.

The Cornell University professor who proclaims that the origin of pain is a mystery, evidently never made a federal income tax return.

LAST RESORT

In his Sunday morning announcement a pastor regretted that money was not coming quickly enough. But he was no pessimist. "We have tried," he said, "to raise the necessary money in the usual manner. We have tried honestly. Now we are going to see what a bazar can do."

It has come to this. State police have to guard players on a golf course while the caddies strike. Sound the alamo!

Dividing the wealth sounds good. What scares us is seeing them now dividing what we'll have to darn twenty years from now.

Handed in:

"If witches came back they'd flourish in some parts of the country as much as they ever did. But they'd find it a little awkward getting about on a vacuum cleaner, wouldn't they?"

STILL LYIN'

Here is one I have not heard told for 50 years;

The Bible baptism was held on a cold day in March. One of the new converts stepped ashore from the immersion.

"Is the water cold?" asked the deacon.

"Not a bit," replied the convert.

"Here, parson, you better put him under again," shouted the deacon; "he's still lyin'!"

A bill now before the Pennsylvania legislature provides for the honest labelling of seeds. There also should be a law that would make things look like they do in the seed catalogues.

There is always a tie between father and son, declares a Southern Rotarian. Probably if there is, it's a safe bet that son's wearing it.

Hog-calling contests are now limited mostly to the hinterland. But some who answer telephones and summon from the upper regions the person called appear to be practicing for these competitions. The young man who met Chlotilde at the dance last night may have visions of the refined environment in which she lives until his eardrum is split by whoever summons her to answer his plea for a date.

Readers' Questions Answered

Dear Miss Markel—Should the tissues that come with engraved invitations be removed?

Answer:—Since they are put in by engravers merely to keep the ink from smearing they should be removed before the invitations are sent out. It is no great error, however, to leave them in.

Dear Miss Markel—May all soups be served in cups? A. C.

Answer—Thin soups which one can drink may be served in cups. All those that are too thick to drink, such as clam chowder and potage, should be served in soup plates.

Tomorrow—Social Finesse

Most every married man feels sort of nervous when he reads about the many women in this country who are poisoning their husbands in order to get their life insurance. This ought to cause a rush for men to insure their wives.

Judge Lindsay says there are 6,000,000 young American men too poor to get married. Investigation would probably disclose the still more tragic fact that most of them are married.

Heard in passing:

"If every person who looks suspicious were in jail, nearly all of us would be in jail right now."

"What has become of the old fashioned young lady who stretched her gum in public?"

"A man receiving a small salary tells his friends it is larger than that. A man receiving a fat salary pretends it is less."

"The only time I ever got into trouble was the one time I carried a gun, thinking it would keep me out of trouble."

"The devil becomes discouraged when a man consults his mother."

It has been suggested by a famous juvenile court judge that the voting age be reduced from 21 to 18 years in this country. That may be all right, but some over that age should never be allowed to vote.

Grandpap Seth Wiggins, discovered his barn was on fire.

Rushing into the house, he shouted, "Where is the fire extinguisher?"

"It is locked in the closet upstairs, and the key is in the coat Aunt Myra borrowed," shouted Grandma Wiggins.

Well, one thing the Spanish war demonstrated to the world is that bull fighting is a comparatively tame and humane sport, after all.

A doctor said this to a wife: "I don't like the looks of your husband."

And the wife said: "I don't either, but he's good to the children."

A professional man doesn't live long after taking in a young partner. Nothing else shortens life like envy.

I read almost every day about "What has become of the old-fashioned" somebody? I am thinking about the old-fashioned mother who made her child eat cracked egg shells, which were considered a cure for old-fashioned worms.

How a lawyer interprets the law depends upon whether he is with you or against you.

Pap says the only time he eats lamb chops is at home, where he makes his own wrestling rules.

It is claimed that a lot of people who do not pay their taxes are waiting in hope they will be abated. It does look that way from the futile attempts being made to collect from those who can but do not pay. Thousands in this county have not paid, some not for many years.

Bad-cold germs are much like relatives. They always move in when you already have about all the trouble you can stand.

An attempt is being made by the Pennsylvania legislature to bring back that old law which prevented any person from voting who did not have a tax receipt. And that is about the best thing the legislature can do.

Cotton-Ed Smith says Senators appropriate relief money to get votes. Oldsters like to expose the tricks of the game when they are through playing.

Before we go any further on the road to war, wouldn't it be a good idea to have a survey or something to find out what we're going to fight about?

Little Man Ties Up Traffic
Nicaraguan Boss Visits Capital
Dress Rehearsal For King Staged

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

Draw a deadline right through the middle of any busy city, with a population as large as about half a million abolish all traffic along that main street for two or three hours and permit nobody to cross it for the same length of time—and, believe me, automobileism and pedestrianism and everything are bound to be a sight to behold when normalcy resumes its sway.

Washington had such an experience the other day.

To be sure, Washington, if any place is accustomed to tie-ups of just that sort referred to. Every four years it has a presidential inaugural parade through its business midst which gums up its works marvelously. However, the citizenry is prepared long in advance for these periodic sieges. It knows what's coming. Business virtually suspends itself. Commercially the place is as dead as a herring, but it expects to be. Moreover, the capital inaugural visitations have their recompenses. They bring in crowds of visitors who are a pest to local house folk, tourist agencies, taxicabmen and various others.

Between inaugurations the town also is strongly addicted to comparatively minor pageants like Independence and Memorial Days. But they're not peculiar to Washington: all towns have them. True, they're worse in Washington than anywhere else for Washington has exceptional facilities to aggravate them. Still, they're foreseen, too. They don't fall as per thunderclap. Besides, their kinds of processions are provided with occasional loopholes for auto and foot traffic to snoop through while they're in progress. They don't paralyze the whole municipality.

Another thing, inaugurations, Independence Days, Memorial Days, Armistice Days, et cetera are recognized as genuinely important occasions. Business is willing to be snarled up by them.

But President Somoza?

Nicaraguan President Anastasio Somoza's Day was different.

A week ahead of Senor Somoza's coming 99 per cent of Washington and 99.9 per cent of the rest of North America never have heard of him. He's president of a country with scarcely twice the District of Columbia's population. He's more of a pewee than the president of Cuba—and I've seen the president of Cuba received with more "eclats" than Henry Ford or J. P. Morgan.

The president of Mexico or Brazil or Argentina or even of Panama (because of our canal there) might be regarded as of some consequence. But Nicaragua? Phooey!

Being polite to President Somoza was okay of course. Probably it was alright to be extra-polite to him, considering the administration's inter-American neighborhood policy. But the other day's blow-out in his honor surpassed anything in past history. I've seen the Prince of Wales get off his train, and go up to the White House with nothing but a pair of motorcycle policemen tooting ahead of him. And a queen or two and a few first-class premiers. When Mr. Somoza was coming up the street, you couldn't get across Pennsylvania avenue. I suppose it flattered Anastasio, but it didn't flatter Washingtonians whose business called them across the avenue.

Presidential Decree

This tie-up of the capital was by presidential decree.

It was issued suddenly. It certainly caused local business embarrassment. It likewise irritated a lot of our Gringoes who figured that an excess of consideration was being shown to a Spiggoty visitor.

Hitler or Mussolini couldn't have surpassed it.

The story is that F. D. was putting on a dress rehearsal for the coming visit of the king and queen of England.

Well, if the king and queen of England tangle up traffic in Washington any worse than it was tangled up by that one-horse little president of Nicaragua, they'll have to go some.

What Noted People Say

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON—President Anastasio Somoza of Nicaraugua hails Pan-American ideals of peace:

"We on this continent have succeeded in laying the foundations for an association of nations, organized on a basis of liberty, solidarity and co-operation. History, even in its most successful periods, has never recorded a like organization of similar importance."

NEW YORK—Graham Hutton, English writer, sums up the purpose of modern journalism:

"Our job is to seize the current meaning of past events, combine it with the future implication of current events and so serve our peoples, our representatives and our posterity. The task is hazardous and thankless but let no one say it is unnecessary."

CHICAGO—Dr. M. K. Amdur psycho-analyzes Germany:

"A people who a generation ago were frustrated in their attempt to over-compensate for an innate feeling of inferiority by world conquest refuse to face the fact of their defeat. Instead, they install as their fuehrer an uneducated paranoid psychopath and accept as gospel his delusions of racism and his anthropological fantasies."

NEW YORK—Count Charles de Fontnouvelle, French consul-general, finds conquest futile:

"The oppressed inevitably seek, and often obtain vengeance. A careful study of the past usually reveals the fuility of armed conquest."

A Harmony Conference?

WASHINGTON, May 12.

THE proposal of Senator Prentiss Brown of Michigan, chairman of the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee, to call a conference of his colleagues in order to "restore harmony in the party" hardly makes sense. This is not to say that Senator Brown is not a sensible man, because he is, but the nature of the cleavage he proposes to heal in this manner is such as to make the effort futile from the start.

AN element of absurdity is added by the further announcement that Senator Barkley (Dear Alben), of Kentucky, whose record as a leader has been pathetic and whose servile obedience to the White House wish is complete, was trying to "improve relations" among Democrats. The truth, of course, is that the party split that exists today is not the sort that can be mended by Senatorial harmony conferences. It is a basic division caused by the Roosevelt policies.

ON one side are the regular Democratic leaders who are as bitterly opposed to the New Deal policies as any Republican. They do not regard the President as a Democrat. They believe he has betrayed the Democratic party, violated its basic principles, stirred up an unprecedented degree of class hatred and brought the nation to the brink of bankruptcy. On the other side are Mr. Roosevelt and his New Deal subordinates, the C. I. O. labor leaders, the professional liberals and the various radical agencies and organizations by which he is supported. The militant attitude of these is that all orthodox Democrats are vicious reactionaries who care more for a balanced budget than for "human rights".

BETWEEN the two factions there is the most intense bitterness. The feeling of the old-line Democrats toward the New Dealers is not one whit more violent than that of the President and members of the White House coterie toward such men as Senators Byrd, George, Tydings, Glass, Gillette, Smith, Burke, Bailey and many others. From New Deal propagandists constantly flows a stream of disparaging publicity directed against those Democrats who dissent or criticize. They are far more cordially detested than the Republicans and greater efforts are made to discredit them.

THE President himself in his most recent political speech, renewed his effort to purge these Democrats from the party, demanded that they either abandon their opposition, declare loyalty to him and his policies or get out. This is the open and avowed political slogan of the New Deal managers, voiced not only by Mr. Roosevelt but by such inspired disciples as Solicitor General Jackson and others. It has been made perfectly plain that the only condition upon which the New Deal faction will harmonize is complete surrender of the opposition, an avowed willingness to accept the Roosevelt leadership and applaud the Roosevelt policies.

THREE years ago this demand would not have seemed so politically preposterous. Three years ago the President, freshly re-elected, was at the peak of his prestige and power. Now, it is vastly different. Now, the demand is clearly an effort of a man against whom the tide has turned and on his way out, to scare a majority of his party into acquiescing in a leadership they distrust and a course which in their hearts they have always deplored. Of the seventy-odd Democrats in the Senate today there are not more than fifteen who can be classed as genuine New Dealers, whole-hearted Roosevelt supporters.

THE OTHER fifty-five are divided among men opposed practically to every domestic policy the President stands for, men who are against most Administration policies and men who, while personally opposed, generally vote with the Administration for patronage and political rea-

Hints On Etiquette

The announcement to friends of an engagement to marry is usually given at a dinner in honor of the engaged couple, the young woman's father or older brother making the announcement. Sometimes the girl gives a party for her intimate friends and then tells them about the event.

CLIPPED HEADS URGED FOR ALL JAPANESE YOUTH

(International News Service)

TOKYO.—Clipped heads, such as are worn by convicts in the United States and by soldiers in Japan, are being urged for all Japanese youth as a means of improving their morals and impressing them with the seriousness of the situation arising out of the conflict with China.

A universal taboo on movies and cafes also was suggested at a meeting here of the National Chastity league, the Federated Mothers' Council of Japan, the National Mothers' Council, the Women's Christian Temperance Union and the Federation of Women's clubs.

Would Save Oil

The army-style haircuts, it was pointed out, also would effect a vast saving in the nation's oil resources, since hardly a Japanese with two inches or more of hair, ever appears in public without a liberal application of pomade.

Another delegate moved that students be forbidden to read magazines, which would result in a saving of time and pulp.

The meeting adjourned after a final statement that mothers, themselves, could make a valuable contribution to the morality of the nation's youth by improving their own culture and personality.

Note to Herr Hitler: We'll pay $1000 to your favorite charity if you'll produce just one single Nazi who can prove himself a pure-blood Nordic.

The Great Game Of Politics

sons. But among the fifty-five there is none who wants a continuation of the Roosevelt leadership or thinks that harmony at the price of surrender is either feasible or desirable. On the contrary, there is unanimity of feeling among them that the present regime is on its way out, and that suits them.

UNDER these circumstances it does seem that Senator Brown's idea of a conference to "restore harmony" is not to be seriously taken. Perhaps a conference such as the Senator suggests might be effective in formulating plans to raise money. Perhaps it might help in lining up Senators who are not up for election next year as speakers for those who are. But that it could "restore harmony" between the Roosevelt following and the regular Democrats is out of the question. With Mr. Roosevelt and his friends branding the dissenting Democratic leaders as disloyal, and with the dissenting Democrats in a party majority, harmony is too remote to discuss.

SO far as the Democratic party is concerned harmony is "out the window" for a good long time to come and every practical politician knows it. This present Democratic rift between Franklin Roosevelt and the Democratic leaders can no more be healed than could that Republican rift of 1912 between the Old Guard Republicans and the other Roosevelt. It is just as basic, just as bitter and the net result is very apt to be the same.

This cooling and soothing preparation quickly relieves the itching, eases pain and irritation and aids in healing the raw, sore spots. It seems the height of folly for any one to suffer this itching annoyance when a simple remedy, so easy to use, may be had at such a small cost. Ice Mint is highly recommended and is clean and pleasant to use. Try it. Any drug store can supply you.

Are You Ruptured? Have You A Hernia?

To the man who asked for the job the manager said: "Well, what are your qualifications,"

"I have only one, sir" replied the other, cheerfully. "At my last place I cut the meat so thin that when the door opened the draught blew the meat off the plates."

"You're engaged" said the manager.

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

(Copyright 1938, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

DR. DAFOE STRONGLY ADVISES USE OF PASTEURIZED MILK

Pasteurization of milk was one of the greatest steps taken in destroying tubercular baccilli contained therein. Unquestionably it has saved thousands of babies' lives, because, as I told you before, a baby doesn't seem to have any resistance whatever to tuberculosis.

Pasteurization once had a great many enemies—people who claimed that pasteurization destroyed the properties of the milk and changed its flavor. However, these opponents are gradually dwindling in number.

The process of pasteurizing milk is very simple. The milk is heated rapidly to a high temperature, and kept at that temperature for a period sufficient to destroy the bacteria in it. Then it is put in a refrigerator and cooled rapidly, and is kept cool until it is placed on the doorstep of the consumer. As long as this milk is kept cool, any bacteria which might have escaped the heating process, will not be able to grow.

This appears to be a fool-proof method of preventing tubercular infection due to milk. The surprising thing to me is that there are still people who are opposed to it. I think that if these people would only take the trouble to acquaint themselves with the facts, they would find that milk which has been pasteurized is the same in every way as milk that has not been pasteurized—except that it isn't filled with thousands of harmful bacteria. In fact, the only criticism I have in connection with pasteurization is that it destroys some of the Vitamin C. Actually this is unimportant, for even unpasteurized milk contains so little of this vitamin that more must be added to the diet, either by irradiating the milk or by taking it in cod-liver oil or in some other form. So losing a little thru the pasteurization is of very little consequence.

Sometimes when you live out in the country, you can't get pasteurized milk. That was the case after the quintuplets were born. Of course they were given mother's milk for a long time, and then evaporated milk. But when we came to the place where cow's milk was indicated, we didn't have any facilities for obtaining the properly pasteurized food.

Until we could complete arrangements for this kind of milk to be supplied, we pasteurized—boiled—the milk which we got from nearby farmers.

When people write me now, as they often do, to ask me if the quintuplets are given raw or pasteurized milk. I can tell them that not one drop of raw cow's milk has been given to our five youngsters. We have always been very careful, because we believe in practising what we preach, and milk is one article of food we don't believe in fooling with.

So, mothers, if you can't get pasteurized milk, just boil the milk yourselves, and then keep it cool. In this way you may destroy a little Vitamin C. But you have also destroyed tubercular baccilli which, if left in the milk, might have threatened the life of your child.

NEW TUBE SOLVES OLD RADIO VOLUME STEP-UP PROBLEM

(International News Service)

SOUTH BEND, Ind., May 12.—Application of the centuries-old principle of the pipe organ may prove the long sought to the problem of perfect radio amplification.

David Borley of South Bend has perfected an amplifying unit for radio and public address systems which is built on the principle of an organ tube with a baffle plate above the speaker. Sound rolls outward through the vibrating chamber increasing in volume naturally and with the true tones of instruments or voice preserved.

Borley hit upon the possibility of using the vibrating tube theory in connection with radio while in church. Impressed by the perfect fidelity of tone of the pipe organ, he decided to apply the same principle to radio. Results of his experiments exceeded his expectations, he said.

He pointed out the units can be built in three tonal ranges, emphasizing the bass, intermediate and treble, individually or together, by selection. In large auditoriums, Borley said, as many amplifiers may be used as desired, giving almost unlimited volume without distortion.

RUSSIAN BIRTHRATE SHOWING INCREASE

(International News Service)

PARIS, May 12.—U. S. S. R's annual birth rate is equal to Finland's total population.

This was revealed by an article published recently in the French newspaper "Ce Soir." The figures published show that births in Russia during 1937 reached nearly the four million mark, an increase of 18% over the previous year. It is added that, while in 1926, 39 inhabitants out of 100 were illiterate, in 1937 there were 28,842,000 pupils in soviet schools.

It was also stated in the article that there no longer exists any unemployment in the U. S. S. R. but on the contrary, there appears to be a lack of laborers. Soviet factories employed more than 27,000,000 workers in 1937 and additional workers are needed at present.

Among the replies received from the tax lien letters sent out to taxpayers are a number that had forgotten unpaid taxes for 1935 or 1936. In a number of instances they enclose money orders for the amount and asked to be advised of the interest and penalty amounts A few discrepancies have shown up thus far, but none of any large size.

Third Term Drive May Break Into Open Soon

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 12.—The third term drive of the New Deal's "palace guard" to force President Roosevelt into seeking reelection in 1940 may burst into the open ten days hence when the executive addresses the American Retail Federation, an administration insider forecast today.

The president, he said, will deliver a militant speech May 22 to the retailers, demanding perpetuation of the New Deal beyond 1940. The executive, he added, will expond his program for the future in such a manner as to constitute an open invitation to his friends to carry on the third term campaign.

Leaders of the "palace guard" now believe they have crossed the third term rubicon, so far as the president is personally concerned. Without a direct committment from him, they feel he is now resigned to carrying the New Deal banner through another presidential race and another four years in the White House—if the electorate so decides. They feel his May 22 speech will supply a good sustitute for a personal committment.

A curious side-issue of the "palace guard" drive to draft Roosevelt is an undercover attack on the reign of Postmaster General James A. Farley as Democratic national chairman. Guard leaders charge him with being lukewarm on a third term and prefer a militant New Dealer in his chairmanship, in order to more easily line up Roosevelt delegates.

Threatens To Padlock Room

Must Operate Legitimate Business, Not On Treat Plan, Says Mayor

When "Uppie" Charles, 329½ East Long avenue, faced Mayor Charles E. McGrath in city police court this morning he was fined $25.00, on a charge of being the proprietor of a "disorderly house." It was alleged by Policemen H. Flinner, H. E. Richards and W. Sines that there had been gaming in the place.

Charles maintained it was a "coffee house." However, the mayor developed through interrogation that Charles did not actually sell coffee. Charles claimed people congregated there and played pinochle for candy or soft drinks.

The mayor said he did not believe this represented legitimate business, said it tended to increase loafing and warned Charles that unless he stocked the place and operated a "legitimate business" the room he used would be padlocked.

Extradition For Two Being Sought

County Detective Paul A. Welsh left today for Columbus, O., where he expects to extradite Nelson Saraks, charged with larceny of some milk cans from the farm of John Zets in Pulaski township. Another man, John Siccra, is in the county jail and is expected to plead guilty to the same charge. Saraks is in jail in Youngstown, O.

Another extradition proceeding was laid against Kingsley Earl Baldwin, who is in Youngstown, O., on bail. He is charged with having stolen two motors from the Union Limestone company, the value of which is said to be approximately $400. Two other men, Charles Hall and Donald Sullivan, are in the county jail on the same charge and are expected to plead guilty.

ROAD ENGINEERS ADOPT CHIPMUNKS THEY ORPHANED

(International News Service)

TIMBERLINE, Ore.—A crew of husky road construction engineers busily employed on a highway near here today had the added burden of family cares laid upon them.

The family consisted of six tiny chipmunks, newly born, who were orphaned when a road scraper uncovered their nest and drove their parents away. They were promptly adopted by the highway engineers, who were unsuccessful in attempts to lure the mother chipmunk back to her maternal duties.

The infant chipmunks were removed to Timberline Lodge, and fed a solution of milk and sugar by means of an eye-dropper. They responded rapidly to the treatment, which was given them every four hours, and increased their weight 20 per cent in less than a week.

Engineers said the tiny animals would be released as soon as they grew large enough to fare for themselves.

Beaver Baptist District Young People Meet Here

Thursday evening, at the First Baptist church, there was a meeting of District 2, of the Beaver Baptist Young People's Union.

A splendid musical program was given, which was under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Garth Edmundson.

Ray Sams, retiring president, presided over the business meeting, when Robert Brest, was elected president, and Miss Julia Kish, secretary-treasurer, for the ensuing year. Both young people are of the local church.

Two banners were awarded for the district. The one for efficiency to Baver Falls, and the other for attendance, to the First Baptist young people.

Refreshments were served in the basement by the local B. Y. P. U.

Six Probes Are Under Way Today In Chicago Fire

At Least Eight Known Dead, And Damage Of $4,000,000 To Big Grain Elevators

WORKERS CAUGHT BY EXPLOSIONS

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, May 12—Federal, state and city authorities opened six separate investigations today into circumstances of the fire and explosions which yesterday destroyed six Chicago grain elevators, killed at least eight men and caused damage estimated at $4,000,000.

Scores of investigators descended on the still smouldering ruins today seeking origin of the holocaust. Most of the experts believed the fire followed combustion blasts caused by an accumulation of dust in the elevators, but others declined to hazard a guess as to reason for the accident until they had studied the ruins.

All of the dead were workers trapped when the elevators were ripped by a series of explosions.

In addition, 23 others, including 18 firemen and a policeman, were severely burned and remained on the danger list in hospitals.

Bodies Under Grain

Bodies of the dead, buried under tons of grain, had not been recovered. It was feared additional victims will be found when the fire has been completely extinguished and a thorough search of the wrecked buildings is possible.

Firemen expected it would take several days for the fire in the grain—almost 4,000,000 bushels of wheat, corn, oats and soy beans—to burn out. In Chicago's last comparable fire, the stockyards blaze five years ago caused $8,000,000 damage, fire fighters were kept busy for almost a week and in past grain fires firemen poured water as long as two weeks.

Heading the government investigators at the scene was Dr. David J. Price, U. S. department of agriculture dust explosion expert for 35 years, who by grim coincidence happened to be in the city attending a fire prevention convention.

"We have been directed by Washington to investigate this disaster," Price revealed. "I'm not prepared to guess at the cause until I have been able to dig in the ruins."

LIBRARY CAN USE OLD DIRECTORIES

Each year the local library exchanges New Castle City Directories for the directories of other cities in the country. For this reason, the library here has a good use for old directories.

Miss Alice Sterling, librarian, stated today that if there is any person who has a copy of the last old directory, the library would appreciate getting it. A call to the library will bring a messenger for the book.

Latest request for an exchange of directories came this week from the Newark, New Jersey public library.

At Grasse, France, the perfume city of the Mediterranean, the industry uses four million pounds of orange blossoms and three million pounds of rose leaves a year.

Pedestrians Are To Blame In Most Auto Fatalities

Failure To Use Precaution Causes Greater Percentage Of Motor Deaths

TAKE STEPS TO CURB PRACTICE

HARRISBURG, May 12.—Pedestrians today were warned by the department of revenue to observe the "three C" rules of "caution, courtesy and cooperation" in helping to cut down the motor vehicle accident rate in the state's campaign for greater safety on the highways.

Otto F. Messner, deputy secretary of the department said that approximately 50% of all fatal accidents involve pedestrians.

"According to the records from our statistical unit in the division of safety," he said, "there are fewer violations on the part of the motorist in fatal accidents. It would seem, therefore, that the pedestrian is responsible for his own death in many cases."

Officials of the division of safety indicate that the following actions of the pedestrian are considered to his own responsibility.

Crossing the street against the traffic signal, crossing diagonally between intersections, walking or playing in the street, riding or hitching on a vehicle and coming from behind a parked car.

"If these six actions are considered as violations of the pedestrian," Mr. Messner said, "then it seems evident that the pedestrian is more at fault than the motorist for in 55 per cent of all pedestrian fatal accidents last year, these six actions were incurred."

During the year 1938, according to the Statistical Unit's report 38 per cent of all operators involved in traffic accidents were charged with violations of the vehicle code.

This compares favorably with 1937 when the records show 42 per cent of the operators involved in accidents committing violations.

Only 30% of the operators involved in fatal accidents, however, were reported to have committed a violation of the vehicle code.

Operating too fast for conditions during 1938 was the primary violation of operators involved in accidents.

Although there is a decrease of 1% in this violation as compared to 1937, it is still attributable to 15% of all operators involved in accidents.

This violation does not necessarily indicate that the speed limit was being exceeded, departmental officials say, but that under the conditions present a slower rate of speed was advisable.

To determine a safe rate of speed the report recommends that the motorist keep in mind such variable conditions as weather, light, road surface, traffic density and other influencing factors.

"This is a responsibility resting solely on the driver's judgement and it cannot be controlled by legislation, engineering, or enforcement," Messner said.

CANDY USED TO TRAP WOOD RATS

(International News Service)

SACRAMENTO, Calif.—A pack of ordinary wood rats in nearby Mark West developed a taste for "finer things" and refused to be baited by anything but choicest chocolate creams.

Ed Bremner, county agriculture commissioner, reported that a woman resident of the small Senora farming community experimented with several savory rodent delicacies—namely four flavors of cheese—in a desperate attempt to exterminate the pests which were stealing silverware and spools of thread from her home, while refusing to eat any food left in their path.

One day, however, they upset a candy box and ravaged the entire contents of chocolate creams.

Now with daily applications of poison to the comparatively expensive bait, she is slowly exterminating the rodents.

Big Demand For Road Materials

Pennsylvania Turnpike Will Consume Huge Amount Of Stone And Cement

QUARRY INDUSTRY WILL BE BENEFITED

HARRISBURG, May 12.—The Pennsylvania Turnpike will be a heavy consumer of cement, sand, stone and steel during construction of the divided, four-lane toll highway between Harrisburg and Pittsburgh.

The cement industry, in which Pennsylvania leads the nation, will find the Turnpike one of its best markets, Chairman Walter A. Jones said. The comission expects to use in tunnels and roadway at least 2,000,000 barrels of cement, a little more than one-twentieth of the total output of Pennsylvania's cement plants.

An even higher percentage of Pennsylvania's annual production will be in the purchase of sand. The super-highway will require at least 600,000 tons.

The quarrying industry will benefit in an unusual degree. Commission engineers estimate that the gross amount of crushed stone of the various sizes will approximate 1,860,000 tons. Specifications for the various grades and kinds of this material will conform closely to those enforced by the Pennsylvania Department of Highways.

Stone used in construction of the highway will be purchased by individual contractors from approved quarries, many of which undoubtedly will be along or near the right-of-way through the southern counties.

The steel industry will benefit by purchase of about 20,000 tons of reinforcing material for bridges, tunnels and roadway.

As Dust Blast, Fire Spread Death In Chicago

Five grain elevators are shown on fire following a grain dust explosion in Chicago which killed at least eight workers and caused estimated damage of $800,000. Two explosions in the series of Rosenbaum brothers' grain elevators on the banks of the Calumet river caused a fire which leaped across the river and ignited two elevators across the stream. Eighteen storage-bin silos also burned, their contents being destroyed. This photo was made from a TWA plane.

It is estimated that the annual rust bill of the United States averages $1,000,000,000, an amount equal to the interest on the national debt.

Nazis May Buy Wool From Japan On Barter Basis

(International News Service)

TOKYO—Germany has proposed to import North China wool on a barter basis with Japan, according to local reports. For many years Germany has held a dominant position in the supplying of machinery to China.

Krupp interests, the Carlowitz interests and other German machinery manufacturers and exporters have been asking Japanese authorities in North China to buy as much of German articles as possible, it is said.

A commercial counselor of the German Embassy in China is credited with having asked Japanese authorities in Peking to sell North China wool to Germany on the condition that they buy German machinery.

According to his reported proposal, Germany will export machinery to North China and with money thus obtained in the shape of notes of the Federal Reserve Bank, Germany will buy North China wool.

The expression "greenhorn" was used as long ago as 1460, and was first applied to a young ox with new or "green" horns.

Great Britain Opens Campaign To Increase Territorial Army

WILL DOUBLE SIZE OF PRESENT ARMY

By JAMES E. BROWN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON.—"'Arf a mo', Adolf" This caption beneath a picture of a British tommy in uniform today is appearing throughout London as part of the campaign to stimulate recruiting for the Territorial Army.

The pictures, which appeared 24 hours after Chamberlain's announcement that the Territorials would be increased double their war-time strength, are said to be strongly reminiscent of the 1914 posters, which were captioned "Arf a mo,' Kaiser Bill."

The idea, it is stated, originated with Bruce Bairnsfather's famous cartoons.

An intense recruiting campaign was started within an hour after the Premier's statement when a meeting of the Council of the Territorial Army Association, presided over by Lord Derby, gave unanimous approval and promised full support.

Drive Started Immediately

Three hundred telegrams were despatched by the War Office to Territorial Army Headquarters throughout the country, putting the new establishment into operation immediately.

The telegrams also requested full details of existing drills-halls and accommodations, with a complete survey of additional accommodations which would become necessary by the increased number of men.

Replies to these telegrams are ordered to reach the War Office within three weeks.

The present war strength of 170,000 when completed by the addition of 40,000 men will be doubled. The new army will be an exact replica of the Territorials, and will be added to the strength of a possible British Expeditionary Force outlined by Hore-Belisha in the House of Commons recently.

He stated that the force would be 19 divisions strong, and that 13 would be Territorials. The new plan brings the force to a strength of 32 divisions, of which 26 would be territorials

Full strength 686,000 Men

The full strength of Britains field forces will be 686,000.

It is stressed officially, however, that every effort is to be made to insure that the intense recruiting for Territorials shall not interfere with normal recruiting for the Regular Army. Officer will be promoted almost entirely from the ranks of the present army.

Regular officers are to be detailed to take charge of training courses which are to begin at once—although the men when fully trained as officers, will not be needed until the plan for doubling the Territorial Army strength is completed. The existing battalion-strength will be retained, and new regiments are likely to be formed.

Huge Cost Entailed

The cost of the new Territorial developments alone will be more than the total costs of the Army of three or four years ago. Sir Walter Kirke, Director-General of the Territorial Army declared,

"Now it is a case of carrying out Nelson's historic message—'England expects that every man this day will do his duty'—and the duty of every young man in Britain lies in the fighting forces."

Sir Walter added that the immediate plan would be to duplicate existing Territorial establishments. There are rifles for all, he said, but there is lack of equipment, clothing, and shoes. All factories producing these articles will be speeded up. New drill halls are to be built all over Britain. If local authorities raise objections to sites, compulsory powers will be enforced, he added.

Dramatic Play At Neshannock Church

A play under the direction of the state Anti-Saloon League, with Dr. R. W. McGarey and members of his staff in the leading parts, will be presented to the public Sunday night at 8 o'clock in the Neshannock U. P. church. The play, "Death at the Wheel", takes the form of a court-room scene. The jury as well as some minor characters will be portrayed by local talent.

SHENANGO LODGE MEETS TONIGHT

Ben Phillips, representative of the SWOC, will speak tonight at the regular semi-monthly meeting of Shenango lodge No. 1215. The meeting will take place in the lodge rooms at 1215 South Mill street.

"Just Two People in Love"

Back home in New York, but still on their honeymoon, torch singer Libby Holman, and her bridegroom Ralph Holmes, brother of movie actor Philips Holmes, are pictured at the Metropolitan Opera House. "Just two people in love," they said.

Anthony Eden May Return To Cabinet Post

Chances Are Helped By Support Of Chamberlain During Crisis

By JAMES E. BROWN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, May 12. — Anthony Eden may soon be back in the British cabinet.

This is the consensus of informed political opinion here, based, first, on Eden's known opposition to the presently unpopular pact of Munich, and, second, his support of Chamberlain's policy during the recent crisis.

When Laborites attacked Chamberlain in the House of Commons accusing him of being without feeling for the unfortunate Czechs, Eden defended him saying the Prime Minister had spoken with a "sense of feeling."

Eden followed up with a strong plea for national unity of all political parties and factions, and, significantly, most of the applause came from the Conservative side of the House.

See New Situation Arisen

Many members of the Conservative party, it is said, feel that Chamberlain, now that he has admitted a new situation in Europe has arisen and reshaped his policy accordingly, he may call back Anthony Eden It is doubted that he would give the Sartorially-famous captain the portfolio of Foreign Affairs. Such an appointment, it is felt, would almost amount to an admission by the Prime Minister that his policy had been wrong from the beginning.

But, despite these considerations, members of parliament are asking how long Eden, popular in the United States, France, and even in Russia, and with 10 years experience at the Foreign Office, can remain outside the government.

Duff Cooper May Return

Another man who many observers predict will soon return to the Cabinet is Alfred Duff Cooper, former First Lord of the Admiralty, who resigned in protest over the Munich agreement. These observers say that the return of these two men to the government would be the best possible way in which Chamberlain could indicate to the dictators the firmness of his new policy.

A third Cabinet possibility is Robert S. Hudson, chief of the British Trade Mission of Moscow. There are, it is known, many political aspects to this mission, and should his trip result in a better understanding with Russia, it is probable that he would be regarded as eligible for promotion.

Fire-Proof Gas Tank For Planes Is Announced

British Inventions Said To Remove Danger Of Explosion On War Planes

(International News Service)

LONDON—New British warplanes, even after having their gas-tanks riddled with machinegun bullets, will not burst into flames.

They are being fitted with a new type of gasoline tank on which exhaustive experiments have been made at the British Air Ministry's experimental station.

This tank has been in use in Italian and French fighting machines for over two years, but it is only recently that it has been installed in British warplanes.

The secret material which makes the gas tanks fireproof resembles cellular india-rubber, being spongy and having elasticity.

Any type of tank can be covered with it, the operation only taking 36 hours.

Provides Thick Covering

It provides a covering nearly an inch thick round the tank and when a bullet pierces it the material "grows" quickly around the aperture, closing and sealing it completely.

Gas chambers in the material which is aerated, prevent vapor or liquid from percolating.

The weight of this material is so slight that it doesn't make a serious cut in either payload or range of the plane.

The British Air Ministry's test included firing at a prepared tank with incendiary bullets, and dropping it from a great height, after which the tank was examined and found not to have lost any gas.

The tank was tried cut especially on a twin-engined bomber sent by France to Spain. After it had been sent crashing to the ground from a great height, it was closely examined.

All four occupants of the machine were killed, the two gas tanks had 30 bullets through them and were partly filled with gasoline, but the bombers did not catch fire.

Original Lone Ranger Here With Big Circus Tomorrow

The rumble of the red wagons, thrills to delight young and old, the shout of side show orators, peanuts by the bushel, with plenty of ponderous elephants to take their fill, mirth provoking clowns without a seemingly care in the world . . . all will come to life tomorrow in New Castle when the big show comes to town tomorrow and long before break of dawn eager eyed youngsters with half hitched trousers will be on hand to watch the unloading spectacle offered daily by the Barnett Bros. Big 3 Ring Circus, this year acclaimed the 2nd largest teneted institution travelling upon the road.

Heading a colossal conclave of the worlds foremost arenic luminaries is Lee Powell, glamorous star of motion pictures, who played the leading role of 'Allen King' in 'The Lone Ranger' talking motion picture epic and will appear 'IN PERSON' at both performances which are scheduled at 2 & 8 p. m. rain or shine beneath the snowy spread of water-proofed tents which will be erected upon the South Mill Street Show Grounds.

Hundreds of stellar acts include The Great Eno-Hai-Shaik Troupe of oriental marvels in equilibristic accomplishments from the land of the rising sun. The Morello-Savilla Troupe, Arabian nomads in whirling acrobatic feats. The Flying Hartzells, premier aerial group in death defying mid-air exploits of daring hazards. The Riding Nickalonians of Belgian bare back riding experts, in marvelous displays of tan bark thrills. Eddie Raymond with an army of mirth provoking funsters in a continuous round of foolish antics to delight the kids from 3 to 60.

In the wonderful groups of animals, are troupes of equines, porcine marvels, canine groups, troupes of cute ponies, well groomed riding experts, high jumping horses, polo ponies, wild west dare devils, three massive herds of ponderous pachyderms in unusual feats and the latest elephantine antics. Three troupes of trained military horses, all are but a few of the kaleidoscopic array of worlds foremost arenic champions that will vie for honors beneath the tented city tomorrow on the So. Mill St., circus grounds in New Castle.

ALICE PATTERSON IS RETURNING FOR SUMMER

Miss Alice Patterson, graduate nurse of the Jameson Memorial hospital, who has been in the Presbyterian sanitorium at Albuquerque, N. M., for the past year, is returning to the home of her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Wilson, 134 Prospect street, Pittsburgh, Saturday. She will remain there for the summer months if her health permits, returning to New Mexico in the fall.

Miss Patterson is the daughter of the late James C. Patterson, who was killed in an auto accident on the Harlansburg road here recently and former New Castle residents.

She will be met in Chicago Saturday morning by Mr. Wilson, who will accompany her to Pittsburgh. Miss Patterson has many friends in New Castle who will be interested in learning of her return to this locality. She graduated with the class of 1933 at the local Jameson hospital.

Mother Of Poison Death Ring Member Attempts Suicide

(International News Service)

HAMMONTON, N. J., May 12—Mrs. Angelina Ruggerio, 62-year old stepmother of Mrs. Rose Carina, so-called "kiss of death" fugitive in Philadelphia's fantastic murder-for-insurance ring, attempted to kill herself with poison today, police reported.

Attracted to Mrs. Ruggerio's home by her cries of agony, neighbors in turn summoned Dr. A. L. Esposito. The physician sent her to West Jersey Homeopathic hospital, Camden, where she was reported in critical condition.

"I want to die.....I am disgusted....I want to die," Mrs. Ruggerio moaned continually. Neighbors said she had been in a highly nervous state since her stepdaughter was ordered arrested on a charge of suspicion of poisoning two of her five husbands for their insurance.

Neshannock Creek Will Soon Be Tamed In Paper Mill Section

No more will the Neshannock Creek get obstreperous near the Paper Mill bridge. The days when it jumped the fence at that point are gone and in the future the Neshannock is going to be a very good boy indeed. All because of a WPA project which is going forward there under the sponsorship of the Lawrence County Commissioners.

Beginning at a point about 75 feet south of the bridge the channel is being diverted and on both sides of the creek strong retaining walls are being built.

From the hillside near the foot of Butz street great slabs of sand stone are being quarried. No one knew it at the time the quarrying started but it happens to be about the finest grade of sand stone in the county which is saying a lot.

Along the side of the new channel location a steam shovel is biting out a foundation trench and going through the stone and gravel like a grocer's knife through a cheese. Following the shovel are men laying the foundation footer and this is composed of blocks of stone heavy enough for a sea wall.

Topping the foundation footer, which is four feet deep will be a wall seven feet high stepped back at the rate of one to two. When the walls on both sides are up the protective embankments thrown up to keep out water will be taken out and the stream will be back in the course it once was. The job will save any more inroads on the west side of the bank which has been threatening the bridge for a couple of years, re-establish an old road up the Neshannock and make possible an ideal swimming site. The work is in charge of John Burns who has eighty five men working with him.

On Thursday County Commissioners Floyd L. Cotton, and A. R. Turner inspected the project and expressed their satisfaction with the way it is progressing. Both of them said they were in favor of a swimming pool at this site and said they would take steps to have the stream dredged out near the bridge to provide such a recreational spot.

Although the condition of Frank Colic, of Carbon, Bessemer high school student who is in the Jameson Memorial hospital, suffering with a fractured skull, received when he was struck on the side of the head by a shot, hurled by a fellow student, is still regarded as serious, it was sated at the hospital today that he had a fairly good night, and hopes are entertained for his ultimate recovery.

A hick town is a place where one man draws disability insurance and forty-two of his neighbors write the insurance company that he worked in his garden yesterday.

Paul Evangelizes A Province

Highlights On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

"But now in Christ Jesus ye who sometimes were far off are made nigh by the blood of Christ."—Ephesians 2:13.

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for May 14 is Acts 18:18 to 20:38; Ephesians 2, the Golden Text being Ephesians 2:13, "But now in Christ Jesus ye who sometimes were far off are made nigh by the blood of Christ.")

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

In view of the fact that Paul, the apostle, had to travel on foot, horse or mule back or by boat, his trips to organize Christian churches and to strengthen those that were already in existence, and to settle disputes among the brethren, are all the more marvelous. Traveling was fatiguing, indeed, in those early days of the church.

Today's lesson mentions Paul's association with Aquila and Priscilla. He met them in Corinth. Aquila was a tent-maker, like Paul, and Priscilla was his wife. When Paul went to Ephesus, the location of today's lesson, they went with him, and they stayed in Ephesus while he went elsewhere. They were Jews, too, like himself.

Paul preached in the synagogue this first time in Ephesus, "reasoning with the Jews," and when they begged him to tarry awhile he "consented not," but bade them farewell and sailed to Cesarea, from there going to Antioch. Aquila and Priscilla meanwhile met an eloquent man named Apollos, who had been baptized by John the Baptist, but who evidently had not accepted Jesus.

"They took him unto them," the story says, and "expounded unto him the way of God more perfectly."

After this he helped them with his eloquence to prove by the scriptures that "Jesus was Christ."

There seemed to be a number of people who had heard John the Baptist and had been baptized by him, but they had not accepted Jesus. On again coming to Ephesus, Paul asked some of them if they had received the Holy Ghost. "We have not so much as heard whether there be any Holy Ghost," they answered him, whereat he explained and baptized them "in the name of the Lord Jesus." He laid his hands upon them and they received the Holy Ghost, as had the first disciples.

This time Paul stayed in Ephesus for about two years and made such an impression that many converts brought books of "curious arts,"—books of magic, presumably—and burned them all.

Paul also performed many miracles in Ephesus. "So that from his body were brought unto the sick handkerchiefs or aprons, and the disease departed from them, and the evil spirits went out of them."

These miracles inspired certain "vagabond Jews, exorcists," to try to do likewise, especially the seven sons of Sceva, chief priest. But when they tried to rid a man of an evil spirit, saying, "we adjure you by Jesus, whom Paul preaches," the evil spirit answered, "Jesus I know, and Paul I know, but who are ye?" and leaped upon them and wounded them. This of course, only magnified the name of the Lord Jesus the more.

Ephesus was the center of the worship of Diana, and a beautiful temple—one of the seven wonders of the world—was erected to her. The worship of Diana called for silver shrines to the Goddess which brought a nice profit to the silversmiths. The religion of Jesus, calling for no such articles, was hurtful to the trade of these men and made them angry, and they aroused many enemies for the Christians, but the rulers of the city must have been very fair-minded men, for the townclerk appealed to the mob that would do them harm and dispersed them.

After this scene, Paul embraced his disciples and went to Macedonia, visiting many places after that, and came to Miletus, where he called the brethren from Ephesus and told them he was going to Jerusalem for the day of Pentecost. He talked to them, reminding them that he had been with them at all seasons, and had "served the Lord with all humility of mind, and with many tears and temptations," and now, "behold, I go bound in the spirit unto Jerusalem, not knowing the things that shall befall me there."

No bonds or afflictions moved him, he said, for he did not "count his life dear unto myself," but would finish his course with joy, testifying to the gospel of the grace of God. Those who were listening to him, he stated, "shall see my face no more."

After giving them good advice about the self-discipline needed to preserve the church, warning them of the dissensions that were likely to arise, and the people from outside who were likely to lead them astray, he commended them to God.

"And when he had thus spoken he kneeled down and prayed with them all, and they wept sore and fell on his neck and kissed him, sorrowing most of all for the words which he spake, that they should see his face no more. They then accompanied him unto the ship."

Three Thousand More Ringnecks Hatched At Farm

Fifty Brooder Houses At Jordan Farm Will Be Full Before Long

Today 3,120 Ringneck pheasant chicks, comprising the second hatch of the season at the Jordan State Game Farm near Harlansburg, will be ready for the brooder field, Superintendent Kenneth N. Brenneman announces.

The first hatch of 2,227 chicks made its appearance in the incubators on May 7. From now on there will be a hatch every few days. When the fifty brooders are full, with 12,500 birds the first hatch will have reached the age of six weeks and will be transferred to the covered fields. Before the season is over, something like 25,000 chicks will have gone from incubator to brooder field.

In the covered fields the young ringnecks are held until they are fourten weeks old. At this stage they are nearly full grown except for their immature feathering. Three thousand of the female pheasants will be shipped at this age for liberation in the wilds of Pennsylvania. Fourteen thousand male and female pheasants will be held at the Jordon farm over winter to be released in the spring of 1940.

Sportsmen of Pennsylvania, according to Superintendent Brenneman, are erecting pens to hold for spring liberation 6000 or 7000 young ringnecks over six weeks old. The Jordon farm is also furnishing 10,000 day old chicks for sportsmen to raise. This program should put more ringnecks in the wild and thus promote better hunting for the coming season.

Visitors are always welcome at the Jordon farm on any day of the week and the employes will answer any questions pertaining to the activities of the farm.

Elaine Declares Barrymore Is Not Good Hubby

Lists Number Of Complaints Against Him In Divorce Suit

(International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD, May 12.—Legal troubles between Ariel and Caliban had reached another definite stage today, with the filing of a divorce suit in Hollywood by Elaine Barrymore against John Barrymore, who recently brought a $300,000 accounting suit against her and her mother, Mrs. Edna Jacobs, in New York.

Caliban was described in the suit filed by Ariel through her attorney, Jerry Kiesler, as being most anything else in the world but a good husband.

Some of the charges were:

Caliban is subject to fits of anger and rage.

He called her vile names.

He threatened to kill her.

He struck her and called her mean names at a party.

He kicked her on the shins.

He made life unbearable for her.

He accused her falsely of defrauding him of $300.

Ariel alleged that when she sued him for divorce in 1937, Barrymore importuned her to become reconciled with him and promised to "be good", but that he shortly forgot the promise.

In her eloquent complaint, Elaine revealed the troubles that arose between them as they toured the middle west in the play, "My Dear Children".

Barrymore, she alleged, told her that he—and not she—was the star of the play. Once, she said, as they were dining—and arguing—in St. Louis (April 25), Barrymore kicked her on the shins.

Foreigners must be smarter. Our college students try in vain to learn a foreign language that a foreign infant learned in two years.

Making Progress On Rail Removal

"Progress is being made on the removal of rails from County Line street and it is expected the job will be completed this week which will permit the New Castle Street Electric Railway company to commence removal of rails in Croton avenue next week," T. C. Moore, superintendent, stated today.

The rails are not needed, the PUC having granted substitution of motor bus passenger service in lieu of street car transportation some time ago.

The generator and starting motor bearings of an automobile require very little attention. A few drops of good oil at intervals are sufficient.

DAILY DOZEN

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

The nose is in a very prominent and exposed position.

It is also somewhat unprotected.

In many accidents, the nose gets the first bump.

Automobile mishaps cause many broken and deformed noses.

Even with a damaged nose, a person can get about.

But facial deformity is a handicap, economically, socially.

Surgeons can correct broken and disfigured noses.

They usually see them months or years after the accident.

This is particularly unfortunate in injury to children.

Deformity in a child's nose increases with growth.

Nose injuries should have prompt surgical care.

A smashed and flattened nose does not improve one's looks.

Soft Coal Strike Aids Anthracite

So Declares Head Of Progressive Mine Workers Union Of Illinois

(International News Service)

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 12.—Net result of the strike of soft coal miners called by John L. Lewis during the contract deadlock between Appalachian bituminous mine operators and the United Mine Workers has been that anthracite operators are recapturing markets once lost to bituminous coal, Joe Ozanic, president of the Progressive Mine Workers union, declared today.

There was no justification for Lewis' strike call, Ozanic charged, "other than that Lewis deliberately forced the miners into voluntary idleness for the sole purpose of attempting to perpetuate his own dictatorship, in which attempt it is now obvious he is failing miserably."

Anthracite Operates

"Significant also is the fact that while he (Lewis) claimed some 426,000 mine workers responded to his illegal sympathetic strike order in all the Appalachian territory . . . in reality the 120,000 miners of the Pennsylvania tri-district anthracite field have never ceased operations.

"The anthracite coal fields began suffering serious losses of coal markets to bituminous coal begining in 1927, due entirely to Lewis' utter disregard and indifferent attitude toward the ills affecting the anthracite coal regions."

In the current instance, Ozanic asserted, the U. M. W. chief used the anthracite fields as a wedge to force bituminous operators to terms, but "the net result is that anthracite operators are now recapturing the coal fields they originally lost . . . and which, once fully regained, they will maintain in spite of the present dog-fight created by Lewis."

News Briefs From City Hall

State motor police and city police here today were trying to locate two colored men who reportedly held up and robbed a taxicab driver in Butler, last night. They also were searching for a Ford, minus a hood and gasoline tank cap, carrying Pennsylvania license 3CV3, which was stolen last night in Butler.

Hugh Stewart, Kurtz place, reported to city police today that someone had stolen a fence from the driveway.

Police received a report that Ronaldo Madino, 3, of 5 East Home street, was bitten by a dog tied in the yard and owned by Natale Alexander, 9½ East Home street. The wounds were attended to in the Jameson Memorial hospital. The dog is being observed for any traces of possible hydrophobia.

Bicycle reported stolen from Francis Rogan, 416 West North street, was later found near that address, police reported today.

Someone stole tools and a flashlight from the auto of B. L. Loveridge, 928 Harrison street, which he had parked in Epworth street, he told police.

Tools and roofing material were reportedly stolen from the car of Clyde E. Beighley, 343 Neshannock avenue, which was parked in a garage at Water street, according to police.

Authorities here today were requested by State Motor police to be on the alert for the possible appearance here of James Long, 17, and James Newlands, 15, the former of Johnstown and the latter of Smethport, who fled from the George Junior Republic home in Grove City.

Finds Low Food Prices Part Of Tahiti's Lure

(International News Service)

FLORENCE, Ore.—Tahiti has more than the lure of warm sunshine and rolling beaches to draw tourists, according to a letter received at Florence from a touring resident, Mrs. Herbert McDonald.

Food is amazingly cheap, Mrs. McDonald reported, and especially so in Chinese eating places in the outlying sections. She recounted one meal which she bought for 18 cents.

It included a choice of viands—plump baked squab, roast suckling pig, roast young lobsters, chicken and noodles, pots of brown, white and string beans and bean sprouts.

The writer said she received with the meal other vegetables, French hard bread, New Zealand canned butter and French red wine.

For 18 cents!

Thursday at 5:15 p. m., at the intersection of Miller avenue and Route 422, Union township, cars driven by David C. McClelland, 100 Knox avenue and Frank Kelso, R. D. 2, were in a collision, State Motor police reported today. The cars were damaged. No persons were injured.

Valuing her allegedly broken heart at $100,000 and citing forty-one sizzling love letters as evidence, Eleanor Jordon (above) of Medford, Mass., sued Stanley O'Brien, 44, in Boston, in one of the State's last breach of promise suits, such actions having been banned by law. DEVISE 'BOUNCING' GATES FOR SAFER GRADE CROSSINGS

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Pa.—"Bouncing" railroad gates that will toss the unwary motorists and his automobile back to safety at a grade crossing are among the newest—and most expensive— wrinkles in the ever-expanding drive for safety in transportation.

Now the driver who fails to see or to heed the lowered gates at a railroad track will find himself stopped and pushed out of danger by the gates themselves—even if he is going as fast as 50 miles an hour.

One set of gates which cost $25,000 a pair, has been installed at a Pennsylvania Railroad crossing in Pocomoke City, Md., and another recently was tested near Middletown, Md. The gates are constructed of steel with a thick cable and springs on the side facing highway traffic and are guaranteed to halt an automobile without damage.

Time U. S. Investors Be Given A Break Says Roger Babson

By ROGER W. BABSON
(Copyright, 1939, Publishers Financial Bureau)

BABSON PARK, Mass., May 12.—Who is the "Forgotten Man" of 1939? We heard a lot about the "Forgotten Man" a few years back. In the political campaign of 1932, he was the average little fellow. But who is he today? The wage worker is getting better hourly pay now than in 1929. The executive is still getting a high salary. The labor leader is sitting prettier than ever. The politician is having a hey-day. Even the farmer is getting his benefit payments. Who, then, is the "Forgotten Man"? He is the stockholder, who is the real employer.

BABSON

Stockholder Squeezed

In the hundreds of new laws that have been passed since 1932, in the thousands of speeches that have crowded the air-waves, in the millions of editorials that have been written and in the billions of dollars of taxpayers' money that have been spent, the stockholder has been forgotten. (The S. E. C. was put in primarily to protect new investors rather than existing stockholders.) For five years the investor has been squeezed by a powerful combination of high salaried executives, power-mad labor leaders and vote-crazy politicians. Everybody has been paid off except the man who invested the money to give the jobs, to create the positions, and to pay the taxes.

Some readers have severely criticized me for my recent statement on farm prices. I said that eggs would sell at $2 per dozen, milk at 60 cents per quart and beefsteak at $3 per pound if farm labor were paid as much as building tradesmen receive. My critics say that it is not just the high price of non-farm labor that gives us our poorly balanced economy. They are right. The high cost of politics and the dishonesty of racketeers are also to blame. Of our nation's income of $65,000,000,000 last year, about $15,000,000,000 went for the cost and losses due to crime.

Stockholders Take the Licking

High executive salaries are undoubtedly justified. It takes brains, courage and training to run a big enterprise. But what I object to is that many executives do not take the licking with their stockholders. The whole brunt of the blow falls on the investors when the dividend is passed. Out of 1,237 stocks listed on New York Stock Exchange, only about a third are paying any dividends, while 35 per cent of the country's railroad mileage is not even meeting the interest on its mortgages! Banks are paying 2 per cent on savings compared with 4 per cent in 1929, but how do the bank officials' salaries compare with ten years ago?

Even workers' and clerks' pay is high compared with the investors' return these days. Too much time is wasted gossipping and pondering. Many untrained young people going into an office today want as much to start with each week as a strong, able-bodied farm-hand can earn in a month. It just does not make sense from a strict economic standpoint. Executives interested in "selling business" to the public may feel that workers and clerks are justified in receiving such pay, but isn't the publicly-minded stockholder, who is the real employer, justified in receiving some return?

"Public Servants" Doing Well

Then, of course, there is our vast and ever-growing army of "public servants". In 1929, Federal expenses were $3,000,000,000 and dividend returns were nearly $6,000,000,000. Federal expenses are $9,000,000,000 this year, while dividend payments will do well if they hit $3,000,000,000. Burdensome taxes necessary to maintain this public spending orgy are stamping out private investment. There is a direct connection between the record-breaking log-jam of dollars in our private banks, and the huge log-jam of jobless workers on our public relief rolls.

So what? Can we ever work out of the dilemma? Democracy is facing a crisis in the United States. Whether it successfully passes the test depends on our people—and on our people alone. Take Massachusetts, for instance. For eight years it has been run by a bunch of grafters and wasters. Its debts are bigger than ever; its treasury emptier than ever. The same situation holds in many other states and cities. We sit back complacently and let a group of hoodlums and nitwits endanger the best system of government the world has ever seen. The reason: We are soft. We don't care. We are not willing to fight.

Will God or Fascism Win?

None of us like the German, Italian and Japanese systems, but at least they get things done. The lazy people are put to work. The rackets are busted. The derelicts are sterilized. The race is made strong physically. The opposite situation in England, France and the United States cannot go on forever. If the Axis countries, with their disregard for God and freedom, prove superior, then our forefathers' ideal of Democracy and righteousness was wrong. We should know the answer soon; but let us first be sure that we, ourselves, are now a God-fearing nation. We still have "In God we trust" on our coins; but is it true?

We must return to free markets for labor, commodities and enterprise. We must purge the reliefers from the voting lists. The lazy, the inefficient, the criminal must not be allowed to propagate. It is time for the descendants of the red-blooded people who made America to wake up. Let them stop boozing, gambling and playing. Let them develop a little of the guts, patience and self-sacrifice their forefathers had. Let them show that they believe America is worth fighting for! Let them back up the employers and investors who are supplying jobs to those who are still working!

PLEASED THE MEN
(International News Service)

DALLAS, Tex.—Cornelius Vanderbilt, lecture-touring the country, didn't know whether it would be good form to dress for a reception in Dallas. "Dress and the women will like you better—don't dress and the men will be pleased," a girl reporter advised him. Vanderbilt went to the reception in a business suit.

REUNION PROVES FATAL
(International News Service)

WEST SUMMERLAND, B. C.—Excitement of a reunion with his niece proved too much recently for 72-year old David Kirstine. Shortly after meeting his niece, returning from England after a lapse of several years, Kirtsine fell dead.

BUSINESS COLLEGE

It is no longer possible for a manager or executive to exercise the proper control over departments without the aid of accounts. The proper accounts show the information of expense or of profits. The young man who has obtained an accounting knowledge in a good business school, even in this time of depression, is sure of employment. The well-trained young lady secretary is also in demand at the present time. G. E. Lyon, Prop. Phone 936.

Garlic-Parsley an Aid in HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

Medical reports say that Garlic-Parsley concentrate has a double action in reducing high blood pressure. First, it tends to relax tightened arteries. Second, it checks or inhibits decomposition of waste matter in the bowels, a contributory cause of high blood pressure. To get concentrated garlic and parsley in odorless, tasteless form, ask for ALLIMIN. These tablets, used at regular intervals, aid in reducing blood pressure and relieving headache and dizziness caused by excessively high readings. To learn what raises your blood pressure and for medical treatment consult your doctor. ALLIMIN is for sale by all druggists. Large box, 50c. Special economy size, $1.00.

The Human Side Of The News

(By EDWIN C. HILL)

Copyright 1939 King Features Syndicate, Inc.

In the current Broadway farce, "Kiss the Boys Good-bye," Cindy Lou Bethany, the Southern girl, takes the play away from the Brooklyn-bred movie star and gets the lead in the new film, after some quite amazing shenanigans over a Long Island week end. She also gets the man. In "Gone With the Wind," the part of Scarlett O'Hara goes to an English girl.

The former play is a somewhat raffish sideswipe at the momentous national issue involved in the casting of the role of Scarlett. But neither in reality nor in make-believe does a Northern girl score. The awards go to the morning dew of the Sussex Hawthorne hedges and the camellias and cape jasmine of the old South.

That may be fair enough, but what is perhaps more important, the Southern girls are snapping up the good jobs around New York City, particularly those in which the girl is in contact with the public. All over town, in smart shops, cabarets and offices one is soothed or enchanted by a soft Southern drawl. It seems to be pretty well established that Grant took Richmond, and it is equally certain that, in a long delayed comeback, the No'th Cahlina, and Kaintuck, Jawjiah Junior league is taking New York.

* * *

One big department store has a Southern girl for a trouble-shooter. Her's is the exotic charm of a fresh gardenia. Anybody with fire in his eye, ready to tear the place to pieces, begins to pipe down when she flutters her eyelashes and turns on the anodyne of limpid speech. It's quite all right when the receptionist tells you you might have to wait an hour or two—Southerners are good at waiting and they make us like it, too.

It is not only in meeting men that the Southern girls succeed. Many of the swank coutouriers around town are discovering that they can dispel the cold glint in the eye of a determined shopper, and make her think that this or that gown makes her look like the Queen of Sheba.

* * *

Pretty nearly everybody in New York came from somewhere else. But in the metropolis everything is de-personalized. Most of us don't know the name of the family in the next-door apartment. We are hungry, many of us, for the easy-going, friendly personal contacts of the smaller town and village. That old codger next to us in the subway looks like Uncle Billy Tarbox who ran the livery stable back home. We'd like to talk to him, but there's that barrier of "use and won't" which divides us in the big town.

I once saw one of those Southern girls turn to a stuffy old gentleman on a Fifth Avenue bus and address him about as follows:

"You will pahdon me suh, but might you be kin to Col. Carrington down in Natchez—you look mighty like him, suh."

I didn't quite get it as to whether the old gentleman was kin to the Colonel, but he got untracked right away and he and the obviously nice Southern girl babbled happily to the end of the line, after it had been established that he knew the Rhetts of Charleston.

* * *

Currently, in the news, it is recorded that Mrs. Lamar, president of the Daughters of the Confederacy, says emphatically that she hopes the South will never change—that progress will never catch up with it; that it will keep its ancient culture and that true Southern gentility will never be overwhelmed by an alien culture.

There are times and places when the worn stereotypes of Southern hospitality don't always appeal, but I am reminded that it is magnolia time in Charleston just now, and if you hurry down to that lovely old city before the blooms begin to fade, go to church at St. Michaels, stop at the Pringle House and stroll through Catfish Alley, you will have a sympathetic understanding of Mrs. Lamar's point of view. And encountering Southern manners there you will understand the success of the Southern petticoat invasion of New York. I believe that's the answer—gracious manners, plus the nice Southern girl's way of personalizing and particularizing everything and everybody within range.

Odette Keun, in her erratically brilliant, but frequently amazing "I Think Aloud in America," gives New York quite a scolding for bad manners. It isn't true, but it is an indisputable fact that the rush, the preoccupation and the fusing of man in the mass takes the bloom off manners in the big town, and that's why the Cindy Lous from Charlotte and points south at last are beginning to fill a long-felt want.

A "SLICK" DEAL
(International News Service)

TACOMA, Wash.—Firemen of Tacoma are trying to pull off a "slick" deal. A brass sliding pole, no longer used, was recently offered for sale by chief E. N. Whitaker through the city purchasing department.

Americanism: Giving people more than they were able to earn before the Santa Claus era; wondering why they don't try to get out on their own.

FIND SYNAGOGUE CENTURIES OLD
(International News Service)

JERUSALEM, May 12—An ancient synagogue believed to represent the earliest type of Hebraic religious architecture yet found in Palestine, dating from the first half of the third century A. D. has been unearthed by a Jewish archaeological expedition in central Galilee.

The synagogue, like all similar buildings, faces towards Jerusalem. It has a Hall of Colonnades over 100 feet long and 45 feet wide, divided into three sections.

The site is that of an ancient Jewish city named Beth Shearim, southeast of Haifa, which flourished in the Talmudical period following the destruction of the Second Temple by the Romans in 70 A. D.

BERKELEY, Cal.—Robinson Crusoe's Island is the scene of an exploration now underway by the University of California's botanical expedition to the Andes. Final squelch for that popular idea that beauties usually are "dumb" is the fact that 83 per cent of the Ziegfeld "Follies" girls attended finishing schools or colleges and many of them were on the honor rolls.

Keen Interest In Ring Bouts

Rubin-Ignatz Battle Should Provide Lots Of Excitement

SEVEN OTHER BOUTS ON CALENDAR

Only a few more days remain until the fistic carnival for the benefit of the New Castle Hospital Nurses Home will be staged in the Arena and all the fighters are practically in the pink of condition. Judging from interest in the Mickie Rubin-Steve Ignatz battle, which is only one of the eight, the air-cooled Arena will be jammed.

Rubin has become known in the tri-state section as the best puncher in the light-heavyweight division of the amateurs. Ignatz, accredited with having won the 1938 Golden Glove title at Youngstown is reputedly a clever boxer. Fans realize that whenever a clever boxer meets a hard-hitting slugger "thrills" are certain to abound.

The other bouts on the card which is probably the best looking calendar yet arranged are as follows:

Larry Regal, Butler vs. Johnny Chingonash, of Youngstown, 160 pounds.

Patsy Fraser, Youngstown vs. Al Peterson, East Liverpool, 126 pounds.

Joey Simms, Youngstown vs. Joe Delmont, Canfield, 147 pounds.

Kid Alexander, Youngstown, vs. Benny Bartle, Ellwood City, 165 pounds.

Chuck Arkett, West Pittsburg vs. Regis O'Brien, McKees Rocks, 158 pounds.

Norman Fiten, Chester, W. Va., vs. Muddy Kurtz, McKees Rocks, 143 pounds.

Steve Kowalk, McKees Rocks, vs. Ted Delarado, East Liverpool 147 pounds.

The fighters will train Friday and Saturday, do only light exercise Sunday and be ready to step into the ring at 8:30 p. m. Monday.

City Baseball League Heads Meet Tonight

Final Meeting, Season Will Swing Open On Sunday, May 14, With Five Games

The City Baseball League managers and officers will have its final meeting prior to the start of the 1939 season Sunday May 14, tonight at the St. Joseph Parish hall, at 8:30 o'clock.

The meeting will be for the purpose of going over the various contracts of the teams and checking for possible duplications, where maybe one player is signed with more than one team, which often happens.

The contracts must be in the hands of Secretary Michael "Jake" Babovsky by Saturday at noon. The season swings open on Sunday with five games being played. The opening day ceremonies will be at Colonial field where the West Pittsburg team, the defending champs will oppose the St. Josephs Ecclesian club team. The game will start at 3 o'clock.

The Columbus Club will travel to Clifton Flats Field to meet the Slovak Club managed by "Snag" Russell. The Lawrence Indies managed by the veteran George "Hoss" Zidow will go to Glasser field where Manager Lefty Maslyk and his K. Pulaski team will be waiting for them.

Manager Danny DeGenova of the championship West Pittsburg team thinks that this is going to be a big year for the city league and also thinks that his "Gas House" gang is going to find the opposition considerably tougher than it was last year.

Melton Muffles Bats Of Pirates

Gives Bucs Four Hits As Bowman Yields Four Runs In First Inning To Giants

YANKS-INDIANS WIN THEIR GAMES

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, May 12.—The western clubs of the National League today had completed their first swing through the east and the eastern clubs of the American League had finished their jaunt through the west.

The western clubs of the National won 19 in the east while losing 16 and the eastern clubs of the American League won 20 in the west and lost 15.

Several Changes

There were several changes in the standings following yesterday's games. The rampant Cardinals, idle in Philadelphia, moved into sole possession of the lead, when the Dodgers, with Mungo pitching and Camilli hitting his fifth homer, beat the Reds, 4-3, putting both in a tie for second place.

Melton held the Pirates to four hits to pull the Giants out of the cellar, the New Yorkers winning 4-1. And the Cubs turned back the Bees, 6-2, putting both in a tie for fourth place.

Old Ted Lyons and young Woody Rich hooked up in an old-fashioned pitching duel and the White Sox trimmed the Red Sox, 3-2, despite a ninth-inning homer by Jimmy Foxx.

The Senators splurged for three runs in the ninth to turn back the Tigers, 4-2, and the Indians, with southpaw Al Milner yielding only five hits, blanked the Athletics, 7-0.

The Yanks moved up into first place by knocking over the Browns, 10-8, in a rousing slugging match.

Largest Classes In History Of Night School Are Reported By Superintendent

ELLWOOD CITY, May 12.—The night school closed a very successful year both from the standpoint of attendance and enthusiasm. The average attendance for the year is close to 75 per cent.

Refunds of $2.50 will be given to all who have a 75 per cent or better attendance. Approximately 225 people will receive refunds and about 110 people will forfeit their $2.50 deposit on account of irregular attendance.

The attendance this year has been better than ever before and the number of people who have taken work for credit towards high school graduation has increased.

The program as it now stands seems to be as diversified as local conditions will permit. The leather and art metal class taught by John Hancher has been received most enthusiastically.

John Hancher has been taking care of the supplies with his own money and being reimbursed when the students pay for their materials. Since the project is 100 per cent liquidating, Mr. Hawke recommends that next year the school board take care of the financing.

The Americanization class is growing and has been doing some good work in citizenship training.

The results of our night school are encouraging and in the future it is hoped to be able to offer a still greater service to the adults of the community.

Borrow Funds To Pay School Teachers

Ellwood School Board To Secure Additional Funds From Bank

ELLWOOD CITY, May 12.—To meet the May payroll, the secretary of Ellwood schools, G. Blaine Hancher, was given authority by the board of directors to borrow $20,000 from the Peoples National bank of this city as a tax anticipation note.

Having previously borrowed $25,000 to meet the April and March payrolls, the total amount of the tax anticipation note will be $45,000. The note will be payable the last of September following the tax collection. As soon as the state appropriation of $30,000 is received, it will be applied upon the note.

Of the $20,000, $15,000 is needed for the May payroll, and in addition a number of teachers have asked for advancement in pay and those that are concluding services in the Ellwood school system will be paid in full. Only the teachers who are entering summer school will be given an advancement in their wages and the amount was left to the judgment of Secretary Hancher and J. Ellis Bell.

Authorization was given to advertise for bids for the issue of "Refunding Bonds," for the sum of $40,000.

C. C. Lash was appointed as census enumerator of school pupils from the ages of 6 to 18 years. He will be paid three cents per pupil.

The school band has improved noticeably in the past year and it was agreed to have the summer practice continued, with the extra cost to amount to $150.

Iron posts have been placed in the Circle building where termites were reported. Improvement of the Circle school floors was considered and a recommendation will be offered by Frank E. Porter.

A. N. Y. A. project for the bleacher erections was authorized.

An invitation to participate in the Memorial Day parade was received.

The possibility of discontinuing mid-year promotions was discussed and explained by chart by Superintendent Bell. Nothing could be gained for four or five years, he explained, and made no recommendation at the present time.

Members were pleased to learn that $1500 in delinquent per capita tax has been collected in the months of March and April by the collector, Charles Lambert. Many of the payments are being made in small amounts.

Lovely Decorations Feature U. P. Banquet

Annual Mother, Daughter Affair Attended By 305 Thursday At Church

ELLWOOD CITY, May 12.—Outstanding and altogether beautiful decorations highlighted the annual mother and daughter banquet held last evening in the First United Presbyterian church. Pastel streamers fell from a huge bell in the center of the dining room intermingled with clusters of morning glories. A lattice fence covered with flowers formed a striking background for the speaker's table and the very original and clever favors were in the form of tiny hats.

At six o'clock a delicious dinner was served to 305 guests by the men of the church. Mrs. E. W. Gamble was a happy choice as toastmistress. After the invocation by Mrs. W. E. Minteer, group singing was led by Mrs. Frank Potter.

The program included an enjoyable violin solo by Betty Jane Stroup accompanied by Mrs. Robert Dambach after which Miss Patricia Painter extended a toast to the mothers and Mrs. J. K. Painter responded to the daughters.

Miss Martha Potter sang a lovely solo, "That Wonderful Mother Of Mine" and Mrs. Frank Potter responded with a beautiful interpretation of Brahms, "Lullaby."

To provide diverting entertainment, Mrs. Beatrice Andrews' little theatre group presented an amusing play, "No Men Admitted."

Fitting recognition was made of the oldest mother, Mrs. Luscenia Duncan; the youngest mother, Mrs. Ruth Tomb; and the youngest daughter, the infant of Mrs. Alice May Snyder.

Each of the classes was assigned to a portion of the arrangements and they fulfilled their part in a satisfactory manner that combined to make the affair a long to be remembered success.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL.

When one travels to the state of Ohio, he should be very careful. Especially when driving through the city just over the line. When they pinch you for a motor violation, it is not merely taking your money but some have been requested to spend a few hours in the jug. We don't want to say unkind words about our neighbors, even if they do say unkind things about New Castle. But we just want to warn our citizens that there are a lot worse places than New Castle.

* * *

Monday night the nurses of the New Castle Hospital will sponsor a boxing bout in the Arena . . . according to the card the events should be very interesting. In other words you are almost sure of your money's worth. The proceeds will be used at the new nurses' home and therefore why not attend.

* * *

Several of our friends have been moved to other towns . . . but they all say when they leave . . . we hope to return to New Castle some day and make it our permanent home. We hope that they will continue to think in this channel and find it possible to return. New Castle is about ready to go up the ladder.

* * *

Now is the time for you to read the want ads. Want ads get worlds of little things done without fuss and bother. They are easy for everybody to use, cost little and work fast. That is why they are regularly assigned the last-minute and the nuisance jobs as well as the do-or-die and the can't-be-done jobs...They do things for big businesses just the same as for the job-minuses. In getting done the many seemingly small jobs . . . want ads render their greatest service . . . Oftimes these jobs could not be done at all any other way and at any cost. Sometimes the jobs are not as little as they seem. Because of their solution, bigger things can be undertaken. That's progress for the individual and for the community!

* * *

Largely it is accepted in a matter of fact sort of way that a want ad can do anything. And that's RIGHT . . . but few people ever stop to figure or wonder why it's possible. The reasons are many. Easily the greatest reason is that so many people read the want ads every day that among their needs can be found the answer to practically any sort of offer. Read the want ads and see what your reason is.

Few Leaders Slip Off Much As Point In Market Of Sluggish Trading

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service Financial Writer

NEW YORK, May 12.—Easier tendencies ruled forenoon stock market dealings today, a few leaders slipping as much as a point. Trading was as sluggish as in yesterday's mixed market.

The local list started irregularly lower in slow dealings, and gradually lost additional ground as the session progressed. While there was no particular pressure on prices, leaders encountered little demand on the way downward. Declines of a point or more were suffered by U. S. Steel, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Sears Roebuck, Chrysler, Westinghouse Electric, DuPont, Union Carbide, Union Pacific and Procter & Gamble.

Losses were smaller in Santa Fe, U. S. Rubber, Standard Oil of N. J., American Can, Bethlehem, General Electric, Montgomery Ward, General Motors, Douglas Aircraft, Consolidated Edison, American Smelting and N. Y. Central.

Eastman Kodak was one of the few issues to buck the easier trend, holding a fraction above last night's closing quotation.

"You Can't Start a Civil War!"

Director John R. Steelman (second from right), United States conciliator, flatly tells John L. Lewis (left), CIO chieftain, and Charles O'Neil, spokesman for the coal operators, that "you can't start a civil war!" in persuading them to resume negotiations in New York on the coal strike. The deadlocked factions were packing up to go home when Steelman demanded they continue the negotiations.

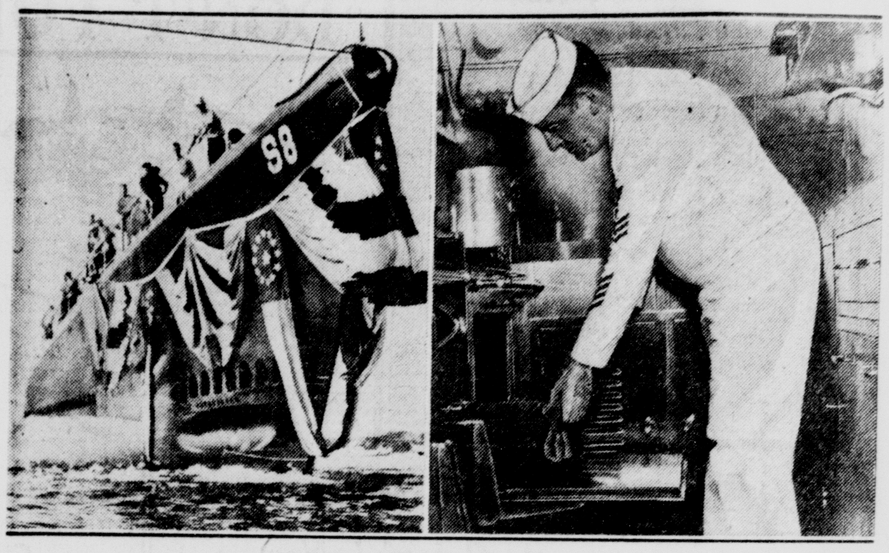
Here's One Kitchen No Housewife Wants; Submarine Galley Supplies Chow for 64



The United States, rushing its rearmament program, is striving to bring its submarine fleet up to date. Great advances have been made in submarine construction since World War days, but the trend of the twenties to bigger and bigger underwater craft has been reversed. In the decade after the war, the navies of the world built huge subs 400 feet in length, of more than 3,000-ton displacement and capable of cruising 25,000 miles without refueling.

It was found, however, that these monsters were impracticable. They could not be used in shallow coastal waters and the $8,000,000 cost greatly reduced the number of ships that could be built. Naval experts have come to the conclusion that number rather than size of craft is of greater importance.

The U. S. S. Saury, is typical of the craft being built for the American underwater navy. Only slightly larger than the war-days "pig boats," it measures 299 feet in length and has a displacement of 1,435 tons. Space is at a premium, for modern submarines, with their batteries and complicated Diesel motors, must allow carrying room for seaplanes and powerboats, and for anti-aircraft guns, cannon, torpedo tubes and tons of the huge $10,000 torpedoes which they fire, as well as for the crew.

Although quarters still are cramped, living conditions have greatly improved and the name "pig boat" is no longer so apt. In the Saury, Chef John Behan cooks for the crew of 64 in a tiny, stainless-steel galley. Everything is concentrated, the dishes are racked, the containers are built into the walls, and the stove is of the lightest metal obtainable for the purpose. At that there isn't too much room for flying elbows.

N. Y. Police Throw Big Liquor Party

Mournful spectators watched thirstily as police in Brooklyn, N. Y., hurled confiscated bottles of alcohol, wine, cordials, beer and whiskey against the storehouse wall. The liquor, valued at about $46,000, was seized during raids on illicit warehouses. (Central Press)
